

Help turn Indian Village PINK!!!!

Throughout the month of May, Fort Wayne neighborhoods, businesses, city departments and the public will team up to proudly show their support for the fight against breast cancer. The pink ribbons you see are part of the Vera Bradley Foundation for Breast Cancer's Annual Turn the Town Pink Events to raise funds for breast cancer research at the Indiana University Simon Cancer Center.

Please join us by becoming a part of this very rewarding campaign by going to Verabradley.org to donate and receive your pink ribbon kit. These kits are for you to display in your yard to show your support. If you would rather use an order form to donate, please contact Sally Williams at 260-747-1384. When the ribbons go up throughout the neighborhoods and all around Fort Wayne, it really is a magnificent sight to see such beautiful "symbols of hope" everywhere. Two years ago, the Neighborhood campaign started with three neighborhoods and raised $6,800 for research. Last year, it grew to 57 neighborhoods and raised over $48,000!
